
ABOUT DIGITAL ECOSYSTEM

Everything we talk about in everyday life that can be changed by financial technology and can be improved using technology to deliver a much seamless and better user experience.

That would be,

I guess dramatic improvement on how people are accessing financial service product.

But now with the enablement of financial technology, people can access product services remotely and they can access it real time.

The core sort of skillset we're looking for is the ability to solving complicated problems and using technology to deliver a better customer experience.

You undertake some of the courses in this area it's going to be very, very helpful.